

WOMEN IN ILLINOIS SPLIT VOTE BETWEEN WILSON AND HUGHES

Britt, the lone North Carolina Republican, lost to Zebulon Weaver; one in Connecticut, two in Ohio, nine in all.

What the final result will be is much in doubt. That the Republicans might overturn the slender Democratic majority was not only possible, but, in the opinion of Republican leaders, very probable. Democratic leaders, however, insisted that the House would remain Democratic. Among familiar national figures to return to Congress will be William E. Mason, former United States Senator from Illinois, who was elected to the House from his old State as a Member at Large. Thus far none of the war horses of either party was defeated. Mann, McKinley and Cannon of Illinois all were returned, as well as Kitchin of North Carolina, Speaker Clark, Moon and Sims of Tennessee and others prominent in majority and minority councils.

Mr. Whitman, the Republican candidate for Governor of New York, was elected by 154,231 over Judge Seabury, and former Congressman Calder defeated William F. McCombs for the United States Senate by 193,233. The majority of Mr. Hughes over Mr. Wilson in the State was 115,577.

SENATE REMAINS DEMOCRATIC BY 2, LATE FIGURES SHOW

Republican Victories Indicated in Maine, New York, New Jersey and Maryland.

Practically complete returns to-day show that the Democrats have certainly lost four United States Senators, one each in Maine, New York, New Jersey and Maryland, while they gained one each in Rhode Island, Delaware and Utah.

Indications pointed strongly to a further Democratic loss of two Senators in Indiana, one in West Virginia, one in Arizona, and possibly one in Ohio and one in Montana. To offset this in the possibility of the election of Republican Senators in Wyoming and New Mexico had not been assured by over night returns.

If the Republicans and Democrats should lose all these as indicated, the Senate still would remain Democratic by the slender majority of 2, 49 Democrats to 47 Republicans. The Democratic majority in the present Senate is 14.

The most surprising development in the Senatorial contest was the defeat of Senator Henry F. Lippitt, Republican, of Rhode Island, by Peter Gould Gerry, Democrat, as the State went for Hughes and for all other Republican candidates. Gerry's majority is about 4,000.

William M. Calder of New York takes the place to be vacated by Senator O'Grady.

The defeat of Senator James E. McPherson of New Jersey, by Joseph R. Frelinghuysen, had been persistently heralded by Republican leaders. The Democrats lost their first Senator in the September election in Maine when Frederick Hale won from Senator Charles F. Johnson.

Another surprising defeat to the Democrats came in Maryland, where Joseph I. France won from David J. Lewis, the latter having won the Democratic nomination from Senator Blair Lee in the primary election.

Lewis had won the nomination on his labor legislative record in the House and Democratic leaders had counted on him to strengthen the National ticket in his State. Yet he ran far behind President Wilson, who won the electoral vote of the State.

Although Democratic chiefs have been hoping against hope that complete returns would reverse the situation in Indiana, the indications at this time are that both John W. Kern, the majority leader of the Senate, and Thomas Taggart, the junior Senator from that State, must yield their places to Harry S. New and James E. Watson. New, a Republican, has won the long term and Watson the short term.

In Ohio Senator Pomerene is running behind his Republican opponent, Mayron T. Herrick, although the electoral vote of the State will probably go to Wilson.

In West Virginia Senator Chilton is losing to Representative Howard Sutherland, Republican. Senator Ashurst of Arizona may be defeated by Joseph H. Kibbey.

Senator Myers of Montana was running slightly behind former Congressman Charles N. Pray, the Republican nominee.

Another upset of the election was in the defeat of Republican Senator George Sutherland of Utah, by William H. King, the Democratic nominee. Sutherland has been in the Senate for sixteen years. Late returns also indicated that Senator Dupont of Delaware would lose his seat to the Democratic nominee, Josiah O. Wolcott.

Senator Clark of Wyoming appeared to be edging out the victory in his contest with John B. Kendrick, the Democratic nominee, Republican leaders, however, were claiming Clark's election. Another probable reversal was indicated in New Mexico, where A. A. Jones, Democrat, maintained a slight lead over Frank A. Hubbell, nominated by the Republicans to succeed Senator Catron.

The result of the contest in Nevada also was undetermined, although Senator Key Pittman, Democrat, led a close race with Samuel Platt, Republican, and Miller, Socialist candidate.

No. 12 West One Hundred and Seventeenth Street. Some of his ribs were injured and he was taken to the Polyclinic Hospital. Robert Robinson, thirty, and Beatrice Robinson, eighteen, both of No. 63 Lenox Avenue, also were taken to the Polyclinic. They had inhaled smoke.

The first sign of trouble appeared itself a few minutes before 11 o'clock. A Bronx Park express, made up of ten cars, filled from end to end, ran into smoke on nearing One Hundred and Fourth Street. A few blocks south of this point the Lenox Avenue branch swings from Broadway, working to a point just east of Central Park West.

The passengers were too busy discussing the election to pay much heed to the smoke, which began to pour in through the open windows and through the openings between the cars. Fifteen minutes of this, however, provoked a general apprehension and the guards were asked to open the doors and let some of the passengers out.

This request was refused. A few minutes after this two seven-car Lenox locals, bound for One Hundred and Forty-fifth Street, came up, stopping not far behind the express. The smoke swept through into the cars of the locals.

DOORS KEPT CLOSED BY CONDUCTOR DESPITE PASSENGERS.

At length some men in the express demanded that the guards open the doors. The train conductor was called and he ordered that the doors be kept closed.

The lack of reassuring information developed the uneasiness of the passengers, particularly when women began to experience the first stages of faintness. Finally, after the express passengers had been cooped up for three-quarters of an hour, a group of men in the forward cars announced that they were going to force the doors.

This was done, and passengers began to jump from the cars. It required less than a minute for this turn in affairs to be realized by the passengers in the locals and they too scrambled to the tracks.

The smoke pouring through the emergency exit open near One Hundred and Fourth Street, caused a man to send in a fire alarm. Lieut. Andrew Devery of the Greenwich Street Police Station, who lives not far from this point, hurried over and went into the subway. Soon Acting Fire Chief Clark, coming with the apparatus on the first alarm, saw that more men were needed, so he sounded a second fire call. About that time came the rescue of the West One Hundredth Street Police Station.

Fire Chief Kenlon led his men into the tube, accompanied by a score of civilians. Time came for the rescuers had been sent to hospitals and a large force of doctors and two ambulances soon reached the spot.

Kenlon, Police Inspector Daly and Police Capt. Burke were among the first persons to enter the subway from the emergency exit. They found the passengers groping around in search of the exit, which was obscured by the smoke. Many persons

M'CORMICK SURE OF VICTORY FOR WILSON, WARNS LEADERS TO PREVENT BALLOT FRAUDS

Chairman of Democratic National Committee Claims 304 Electoral Votes and Thinks He Will Have More—Willcox Claims 323.

Vance McCormick, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, gave out the following statement at 5.20 o'clock this morning:

"President Wilson was re-elected yesterday by the people of the United States. He will have certainly 304 votes in the Electoral College and this may be increased by belated returns from doubtful States.

"The victory is emphasized by the reluctance of the enemy to admit defeat, and is a complete repudiation of the unfounded claims sent over the country by the Republican National Committee last night."

McCormick at 5.30 o'clock this morning sent the following telegram to every State and County Chairman in every State where
